Explore a challenge: Science and Technology

Increase your computer skills and report on the importance of safety on the internet. If you have never created a digital artwork before, this is an excellent opportunity to learn how to paint digitally. Then, think about the importance of safety on the internet. How would you share this artwork on the internet? How would your parents or you control who looked at it or used it?

Create a Challenge: Computer

Challenge yourself to create a 'painting' using a mobile device or computer. If you have done this before, then try making something more challenging. Add more details, different colour palettes etc.; or you could instruct someone else how to create a painting using technology.
